ENGLAND DENIES CARDEN INTERVIEW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The British foreign office, through the embassy here today, officially denied to the State Department the authenticity of the much discussed interview with Sir Lionel Carden, British minister at Mexico City, which represented the minister as unsympathetic with the policy of the United States.

Secretary Bryan announced that the denial of the British foreign office was made "on the basis of a denial from Sir Lionel Carden himself." The denial was contained in a letter from the British foreign office to the American State Department.

BARROWS FAVORS U. S. INTERVENTION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—Declaring that it would be a mistake for the United States to intervene in Mexico until it had waited until European powers took their step, David P. Barrows, acting president of the University of California, addressed today the Friday Morning Club, a woman's organization of Los Angeles, on "The Foreign Policy of the United States."

"Send a fleet to Vera Cruz," he said, "dispose of them as they can be on duty in Mexico City in twelve hours."
"It is better for the United States to intervene now, than to have the European nations, at no distant time, landing troops in Mexico."
"We have seen one European invasion of Mexico. We do not want another."
"Should we intervene ourselves or have Europe intervene in Mexico? Either is dangerous, but the latter is fraught with greater danger."
"It is time for the United States to determine upon a national policy. The day of hesitancy and restraint has passed. The dignity of our country is at a crisis."
"European powers no longer are satisfied with our handling of the Mexican situation. We no longer are on the previously friendly terms with Great Britain. The order of a national policy was a serious blunder."
"We must keep Great Britain's friendship."

SOUTH AMERICAN GROWTH TO BE 20TH CENTURY FEATURE

Wards its sister commonwealths; and this is an impossibility if it does not keep order and enforce justice within its own borders.
"Furthermore, I believe that the world has now grown sufficiently advanced to realize that normally the growth of one nation in prosperity and well-being is of benefit, and not harm, to other nations. Among private individuals it is normally a benefit, and not a disadvantage, to a man to live in a well-to-do neighborhood, to have neighbors who are successful in life, and to deal with men who are prosperous. For precisely similar reasons it is an advantage for a nation to have as neighbors nations which are thriving and successful."
"Under a republican, a democratic, form of government, this means that there must be an honest chance to settle differences of public opinion at the polls by votes fairly cast and fairly counted, and a willingness, when the decision has thus been fairly reached, to abide by it."
"Chronic wrong-doing, or an impotence which results in a general loosening of the ties of civilized society, may in America, as elsewhere ultimately force upon us the intervention by some strong and stable civilized nation, in the exercise of an international police power. Such a duty is thankless, irksome and unpleasant, whether it be performed by England, France or the United States, whether in Algiers or Egypt or on the Italian coast."
"Therefore we all hail with delight the advent to real power of such nations as Brazil, the Argentine, and Chile, whose maintenance of peace and security within their own bounds, and whose efforts to substitute order and fair play for those of chaos, in the settlement of international disputes in South America, are fraught with good omen for the entire western hemisphere."
"It is not too much to expect that here in the New World, where the burden of the world's future rests, and of fundamental racial incompatibilities is less heavy than in the Old World, we shall be able sooner than elsewhere to reach that level of civilization where the nations shall dwell together in good will and mutual respect and helpfulness. When one day this level has been reached, each nation will strive with sincerity, earnestness and common sense to solve the problems of fair dealing as among the men and women within its own borders; and it will thereby lay the foundations for the only peace permanently worth having, the peace of justice and of righteousness."

The Road To Riches

The old adage used to run "Early to bed—Early to rise—Makes a man healthy, Wealthy, and wise."
Nowadays it goes something like this:
"Use your ears. Use your eyes. Trade with men who advertise." There's sense to this doggerel because when you trade with men who advertise you do business with men who deal in the open.
Merchants do not waste money in advertising ruses. They are sure of their goods and their service.
The printed word is their master. They must live up to their promises.
A safe buyer's guide is the day-to-day advertising in live newspapers like the Republican. Every line of it is worth reading and some part of it is sure written for your eyes. Be wise—For wisdom leads to prosperity.

STREET PAGEANT, PORTOLA CLIMAX Parade Symbolizes Steps In State's History, 18,000 In Line

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—A mammoth street pageant, more than four miles in length, depicting scenes in the early history of California and participated in by approximately 18,000 people representing the civil, industrial, military and fraternal organizations, marked the climax today of the three-day Portola festival. During the parade, business was suspended and all public schools were closed.
The various divisions of the pageant symbolized the steps in the state's history from the time of the aborigines of the Spanish period to the time of the gold rush and the present era.
Tonight thousands of pleasure seekers again took possession of the city's downtown streets and supplied with all sorts of noise-making devices and confetti, they succeeded in keeping San Francisco in a tumult of merriment until a late hour.
The carnival will close tomorrow night with an electrical parade, when designs historical and fantastic will be featured. Various clowns and games will also be played during the morning and afternoon.
The army and navy, the state National Guard and most of California's fraternal organizations were represented in the procession, which stretched its length for four and one-half miles. The chief feature, however, was the floats setting forth the principal incidents in the history of the state. Included in the pageantry were representations of the founding of the missions, the establishing of the Presidio here, Sir Francis Drake sailing the Golden Hind, the landing of the Russians at Fort Ross, the driving of the first spike on the first trans-continental railroad and other celebrated events.
The coach used by General Mariano Vallejo, the Mexican general who commanded the forces of northern California, had an honored place in the procession carrying Mrs. J. H. Carter, a daughter of General Vallejo and a descendant of Portola.
Many bands were in the line of march, including the All-California Shrine band. Portola was seen, also Queen Conchita and Rellina in interesting sections were provided by the Japanese Association of America and the Chinese colony.
Native Sons and Spanish War Veterans turned out in force. Captain L. T. Stevenson, of Fresno, department commander, led the Veterans.
ROBBERS BLOW SAFE CHICAGO JUNCTION, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Robbers early today blew open the safe of the postoffice at Attica, seven miles west of here and escaped with loot estimated at $15,000.
The explosion of the safe demolished the two-story postoffice.

NEIGHBORS QUARREL
OVER PUBLIC ROADTheir Grievances Are Aired
In Court In a Trial of
Two Days

A neighborhood quarrel ending in a suit for the removal of obstructions of what is claimed to be a dedicated public road was given thorough airing in the two days of trial with arguments closed yesterday in the suit of Philip and Mary Reitz against Conrad Scheidt, Adam Lehman and Alexander Will. Judge Church took the case under advisement.

The road in question is across a section of land north of Sanger, the Reitzes as the owners holding as purchasers from Will and the plaintiffs deed of October, 1908, showing a 10-foot strip reservation on their side for a roadway, this being land parcel No. 1 on this road involved in the case. Will owns parcel No. 2, subject to sale contract with Henry Turgie; No. 3 is owned by Scheidt and No. 4 by Lehman, all located as claimed after dedication, though mention of the reservation is not made in all sales and the defendants claiming that the reservation was not intended for a roadway but as a place for the turning of plows.

At any rate the Reitzes' complaint of Scheidt's plowing up of the road and Lehman's erecting of a post in the middle of the road, all with the tacit approval of Will, so that except with the courtesy of other more friendly neighbors the Reitzes assert that they have to drive one-half mile out of the way for an exit and that they are discriminated against because no one else is cut off from this road east of Ruggie and Lehman.

"SHE" IS HERE; SO
IS BILL WILSON;
"SHE'S" ONLY JOB

Bill Wilson, a Greek restaurant waiter, so to speak, the practical joke played on him that he sought advice at the district attorney's office yesterday for being recaptured for his railroad fare from San Diego, where he had hurriedly given up employment in answer to a "hurry-up telegram" that "she" is here. The supposed "she" was his sweetheart, whom he had expected from Salt Lake, while the "she" of the telegram sends was a situation as waiter that was open for him here. Being out of cash when he arrived in response to the telegram, Wilson sensibly accepted the waiter job. The district attorney could not help him out on the railroad fare proposition.

IS BADLY BRUISED
IN AUTO ACCIDENTKingsburg Rancher, to Avoid Running
Over School Boy, Turned to One Side and Auto Upsets

SELMA, Oct. 24. — John F. Forney, a rancher residing near Kingsburg, was badly bruised, and possibly received internal injuries, in an automobile accident just north of the city this afternoon. Forney was driving in a car along Railroad avenue. A school boy who was ahead of Forney, became confused and ran directly in front of the machine. To avoid running over the boy, Forney was obliged to leave the main roadway, and in striking the soft inclined ground at the side of the road, his machine turned turtle. Forney was pinned underneath the machine, with the weight across his chest. Two passing automobiles extricated him and rushed him to this city, and he was taken to the Selma sanitarium. It was impossible tonight to determine whether Forney suffered internal injuries.

CHAOS OF PARTIES

Nothing could better illustrate the present chaos of politics than the announcement of William Randolph Hearst in New York that he is not a Democrat, does not believe in the Democratic party, and is registered as a member of another party, coupled with the definite plans of this same William Randolph Hearst to take active part in the Democratic politics of California, and if possible to secure for himself the leadership of the California Democracy. By the other standards of politics any man who should undertake simultaneously to follow these two courses could have been incarcerated as a lunatic on this showing alone. It happens though that Hearst is not a lunatic and that these two inconsistent procedures are not entirely irrational and very actually sound. As an independent anti-Democrat in New York, registered merely for purposes of independence, with his own personally conducted so-called independent party, Hearst may actually go further towards gaining Democratic influence in that state than he could by acting as an actual Democrat. In California his open repudiation of the Democratic party and his well-known intention of promoting the candidacy of a man who publicly supported the Republican ticket at next to the last election is also not inconsistent with acting in the Democratic party. The Democratic party here, as elsewhere, is an accidental congeries of so many inconsistent things that one can be quite as good a Democrat by advocating almost anything as he can be by advocating almost anything else, and if he can succeed in advocating two contrary things at once, then by being two sorts of a Democrat he can appeal to an even larger fraction of the party.

The same thing, of course, is true of the Republican party wherever enough of that party survives to be capable of division and confusion. In California, according to the plans of its present reorganizers, the Republican party stands for only one thing, and that is a standpoint conspiracy to elect the Democratic ticket on the slogan "Anything to beat Johnson." But even in California there are persons who still cling to the other and greater things for which the Republican party once stood, and who, still would like to call themselves Republicans if the leaders would permit, on some platform more sensible and more decent than this. So even in California, between the traditional Republican whose mind is still on his party's greatness, and the standpoint Republican who avows no motive but revenge, there is still enough difference so that one can be almost as many sorts of a Republican as William R. Hearst is kinds of a Democrat. In fact, even the Progressive party in California is still ostensibly Republican, and has members who would prefer to remain Republicans if it were not for the announced intention and evident ability of the present Republican reorganizers to elect them from that party and kick them willy-nilly into the Progressive ranks.

In fact, the whole political state of the country at the present time is one of such absolute party chaos that it is really almost a pity that the last legislature did not adopt as a temporary measure the Wisconsin system of allowing anybody to vote in any primary without party registration. The Wisconsin system is wrong in principle and in all normal times is wrong in practice, but in the present transitional stage of party break-up, in which feuding party lines have actually ceased to exist and new party lines are still in the incomplete process of formation, the system might temporarily have some nearer approximation to the actual situation than can be done by any law predicated upon the assumption of positive and reasonably permanent party alignment.

A BOLD BILL

The new solution of the currency bill proposed in the so-called Vandenberg bill is not likely to get either congressional or popular support, and it has the opposition of President Wilson. It is therefore scarcely likely to pass, and it probably ought not to pass. But there is a refreshing thoroughness and directness in the plan which is at least pleasant to contemplate. It faces every problem and solves it without compromise.

It is conceded, for instance, that there should be some centralizing authority among the banks, and it is claimed that the district reserve banks in the administration bill are too numerous. So the Vandenberg bill goes straight to the point by establishing only one bank. There is a dispute as to the proportion of control in the central bank as between the government and the banks themselves, and the administration bill compromises this by giving the banks the majority control in the reserve banks and by giving the government the majority control in the central body which is over them all. The Vandenberg bill also goes straight to the center of this difficulty by bluntly giving the government all the control there is and depriving the banks of any voice at all. The question of re-discounting commercial paper and of getting the banks out of the government function of issuing money and the government out of the banking business, is handled in a complex manner by the administration bill. The Vandenberg bill goes straight to the center of this difficulty also, by putting the government squarely and frankly into the banking business, and authorizing it through its bank to issue bank notes. The bill, in other words, is a bold and thoroughgoing attempt to centralize the banking business of the country in the hands of a bank run by the government as a semi-governmental institution. It is a scheme against which the ghost of Andrew Jackson will vote, and as much as that ghost still has numerous votes in and out of Congress, this is a serious consideration. It is also a scheme so direct, so simple, so bold and therefore so startling, that President Wilson is probably right in opposing it, as he will certainly be successful in defeating it. But it is at least an intellectual pleasure to see a big question attacked from straight in front by a solution which evades nothing, compromises nothing, and shrinks from nothing.

MEDICAL PROGRESS

Following the reasonable success of methods of inoculation against typhoid fever comes the announcement of encouraging results from a serum treatment of the disease after it has actually started. Unfortunately typhoid cannot be produced artificially in animals, and the serum must be taken from human patients who have had typhoid and are in the convalescent stage of it. This means, of course, that the serum can never become a commercial article on the general market, and that it must be obtained for each case of sickness from some survivor of another recent case. Even this difficulty, however, is not prohibitive, and if encouraging results so far obtained continue it will mean that the science of medicine is at last able to cope at all points with one of the most difficult of human plagues.

Sanitation had already reduced typhoid to a minimum in cities. It has become, in fact, characteristically a country disease, and most of the cases found in cities are imported directly or indirectly from the country. The comparatively recent discovery of a method of inoculation against typhoid to produce artificial immunity, added to improved sanitary conditions, has largely banished the disease from armies and camps. But even with the best of preventive precautions, typhoid cases will occasionally occur, and when they do, the medical problem of caring for the patient in the absence of a definite curative agent, has always been exceedingly difficult. So much depends on the surroundings, on intelligent care in the minutest details, and on the vitality of the patient, that the physician's task is rendered enormously difficult and doubtful. A specific remedy can be discovered which will definitely abort the disease, then typhoid fever will disappear from among the list of human scourges.

This discovery, like several recent advances in the knowledge of preventive and curative medicine, was made possible by one of the endowments which it is now popular for wealthy persons to make in the promotion of medical research. There is no other scope of human activity which can accomplish more definite results for good, or to which money may more legitimately be devoted. The Cuban War gave us the investigations which safeguarded the world against yellow fever. The Panama Canal has abolished malaria from every community willing to take the trouble to protect itself. Typhoid fever had already been brought under reasonable control, and there are now prospects that it may be suppressed completely. Typhoid has long been definitely preventable, and diphtheria is now definitely curable. Encouraging preliminary results have been had indicating that even cancer may some day be conquered. The Rockefeller Institute has gone a long way toward completing the work which pure milk laws had already begun, in diminishing infantile dysentery. One form of spinal meningitis is now definitely curable. The bubonic plague can be kept out of any country willing to fight its rate. Infantile paralysis is not yet mastered, but long steps have been taken towards this mastery, and it is under the most intelligent investigation. The hookworm, which is actually the chief cause of the poverty and low civilization of the tropics can now be eradicated promptly and positively. Even tuberculosis, the Great White Plague, for which there is no definite or specific remedy, can be prevented or cured in the majority of cases if it is handled with sufficient intelligence and persistence. And it is always possible that some one or another of the occasionally exploited "cures" may some day turn out to constitute a definite remedy for this disease. When this time comes there will be practically nothing left to die of except violence, old age, or drunkenness.

"A Greek waiter who answers to the name of Bill Wilson," is an interesting character in a recent news item. It recalls one of "a prize-fighter by the name of Isidor Levinsky, who answers to the name of Mike Finkelman."

AERIAL SQUADRON OF SIX MACHINES OVER SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 24.—The first aerial squadron ever seen in San Diego and perhaps the first witnessed in America, was the spectacle beheld at North Island this morning. Six qualified military pilots, Lieutenant Williamson, Kelly, Post, Gooder, White and Murder, rose from the aerodrome within a few minutes of each other and flew for a short time at an altitude of 1,000 feet. The roar of the six motors could be heard for miles.

The Inspector: "Look here, you'll have to do your duty. No favors to anybody hereafter. I'll go with you and see that you do your full duty."

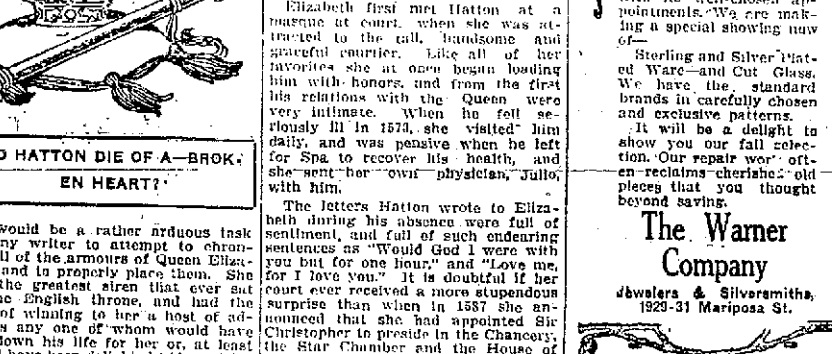

"Now, here's a quiet little game up here. Shall we pinch the bunch?"

"Here's a tough joint. Shall we call the wagon?"

"Here's a man spitting on the sidewalk. Shall we pinch him?"

"You bet! We'll teach him to respect the law."

The Worlds MYSTERIES

MYSTERIES OF ROYALTY

DID HATTON DIE OF A BROKEN HEART?

It would be a rather arduous task for any writer to attempt to chronicle all of the adventures of Queen Elizabeth, and to properly place them. She was the greatest queen that ever sat on the English throne, and had the way of winning to her a host of admirers any one of whom would have laid down his life for her or at least would have been delighted to have joined with her, but Elizabeth lived and died a virgin queen.

Just how many hearts Elizabeth was able to break through her flirtations and her favors no one would venture a guess, but it has always been affirmed that among the latter were Sir Christopher Hatton, who became her favorite and died when he found that he had lost the favor of the Queen.

Elizabeth first met Hatton at a musical at court, when she was attracted to the tall, handsome and graceful cavalier. Like all of her favorites she at once began bending him with honors, and from the first his relations with the Queen were very intimate. When he fell seriously ill in 1574, she visited him for three days, and when he recovered his health, and she sent her own physician, "Julius," with him.

The letters Hatton wrote to Elizabeth during his absence were full of sentiment, and full of such endearing sentences as "Would God I were with you but for one hour," and "Love me for I love you." It is doubtful if her court ever received a more stupendous surprise than when in 1587 she announced that she had appointed Sir Christopher to preside in the Chancery, the Star Chamber and the House of Lords, and to superintend the administration of justice throughout her realm.

Besides being handsome, Hatton was a most graceful dancer and it is said that he danced himself into the favor of the Queen. He was the younger son of a good, but impoverished family and when he devoted himself to dancing he had lost the favor of the Queen.

Ponderous Personages

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash".

Diogenes was the George Bernard Shaw of his time. He got his living by cursing humanity and making humanity like it.

Diogenes was born about 412 B. C. in Greece, and during his early life took up counterfeiting for a profession. He was caught and was banished from his state. This curbed his disposition and he became the champion cynic of the period. Like modern malcontents of great intelligence he decided that he was right and that the whole world was to be severely criticized for rebuking him. He accordingly moved to Athens, borrowed a tub and became a philosopher. He emitted his philosophy on the street corners like many of our modern advanced thinkers and retarded workers, and he used the tub for advertising purposes. By means of living in it he became famous, and large numbers of lending citizens came to visit him and to ask him questions, which invariably got rude answers. When Alexander the Great visited him he asked what he might do to gratify him; whereupon Diogenes asked him to step out of the sun. His manner of life being about to come to an end, he died of old age.

All this won Diogenes great fame, and he did his best to live up to the public expectations. He prowled about Athens by daylight with a lantern hanging from an innocent man, and passed by the city officials without even hesitating. He produced a large number of sayings to prove that nobody was better than he, and that it was his general duty to be honest, and in general acted like the proprietor of a blind pig saloon yawning against a reform wave. He successfully lived for almost ninety years without using his tub for anything except a shelter and died hungry and happy, being famous.

Many modern thinkers have studied the system of Diogenes and have imitated it successfully. He was his own press agent and the first one on record. If he had taken a bath and been polite to humanity he would have lived obscurely and would also have had to work for a living. On the other hand, a great many disciples tried to imitate Diogenes but received the cold indifferent shoulder of the populace and had to appeal to the poor master for relief. The moral is plain. It doesn't matter what you do in order to live in history, but one rule must rigidly be carried out. Do it first.

SOCIETY

Miss Marjorie Harris was the hostess last evening at a delightfully appointed dancing party given at the M. H. Harris residence on Alameda avenue, to which two score of her friends were bidden to meet Miss Eliza Schilling, an attractive Berkeley maid who is her house guest. The spacious rooms, which were cleared for dancing, were effectively ornamented with vases of autumn blossoms, which blended and contrasted prettily with the multi-colored frocks of the dancers. Refreshment punch was dispensed during the evening, and at an intermission between the dances, supper was served.

Among those who enjoyed Miss Harris' hospitality on this occasion were Misses Eliza Schilling, Margherita Beveridge, Constance Beveridge, Marcia Edwards, Dorothy Noble, Ethel Perry, Sallie Sample, Eva Clark, Georgia Clark, Ethel Shaver, Anne Tupper, Eleanor Webster, Jennie Wilson, Marion Day, Messrs. Gus Hoover, Blaine Rogers, Homer Rowell, Ralph Watson, Vernon Churchill, Sydney Smith, Chester Warlow, Gerald Thomas, George Saunders, Reed Schaefer, Charles Pomeroy, Sigmond Levy, Herbert Levy, Joe Blunkron, Everett Wilcox, Messrs. and Mesdames Henry

An interesting visitor of the week is Mrs. C. C. Child of Portland, Oregon, who is sojourning in the D. D. Allison household on Franklin avenue. Mrs. Child is better remembered in Fresno as Miss Anna Mrowinski, who was prominent in local musical circles a few years ago, being the possessor of a wonderful soprano voice. Mrs. Child and her little daughter, Alice, are returning to their home in the north after a two months' sojourn in the Eastern states.

Mr. and Mrs. James Madison and their daughter, Miss Corinne Madison, are in San Francisco for the week-end, attending the Portland celebration.

Mrs. Frank Lyman left Columbus, Ohio, last night, where she has been visiting relatives for the past two months, and will return to Fresno by way of Chicago, where she will make a short stopover, and also in Los Angeles, where she will be entertained in the C. H. Lyman household.

Miss Adeline Thornton will be the hostess at the meeting of the Agnes' guild of the Episcopal church on Monday afternoon at her home on Kearney avenue.

The Friday Afternoon Card club enjoyed its games of bridge yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. E. Manheim on I. street. In the absence of two of the club members, Mrs. W. W. Craycroft and Mrs. David Falk had the pleasure of substituting. Tempting delicacies were dispensed at the conclusion of the afternoon and the winners for highest score went to Mrs. DeWitt H. Gray.

Mrs. W. P. Miller went to Hanford today to lead the Woman's Study club of that city in the study of "Job." The club will devote the latter season to the contemplation of modern drama.

The art department of the Parlor League club is anticipating an interesting display of water colors by a talented California artist, Miss Annie L. Murray of Monterey, who will arrive next week to be the guest of Miss Murray's Westphal for a time. Miss Murray has just returned from a year's sketching trip to Japan, the borders of the Mediterranean and the English Channel. She will deliver a travel talk at the club on Monday, November 3, at the club house. The entire membership of the club is to be invited to this talk.

The Lambda Theta Phi Sorority will meet this afternoon at the home of Miss Julia Harris on Blackstone, at 2.

Misses George and Eva Clark were the joint hostesses at a pleasant meeting of the Brightest Young Women's club at their home on K street. A wonderful display of red dahlias made the living room ornate for the occasion, and after several progressions of the popular game of rummy, refreshments were dispensed. Miss Eliza Schilling of Berkeley, and Miss Oneda Madison played for absent members. The souvenir for high score was awarded to Miss Margherita Beveridge.

A basket social was the form of entertainment enjoyed by a large number of young people last night at the Parish hall of St. John's Catholic church. The entertainment was given by the Young Ladies' Sodality, who provided the motif for the entertainment. Miss Mary McGinnis, Miss Teresa McGinnis and Miss Mary Cunniff, the principal officers of the sodality, were responsible for the arrangements, which insured the evening's pleasure. Informal dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, when the baskets containing refreshments were opened. The feature of the entertainment was the display of fancy articles which are to be placed on sale in the fall fair, which will be held shortly.

ECZEMA ON BACK, ARMS AND CHEST

Broke Out in Pimples, Itching and Burning Seemed Unbearable. Hair Fell Out Terribly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Pierston, N. Dakota.—"The eczema started on my scalp. It finally went on to the back of my neck, then on to my back, arms and chest. It broke out in pimples first and then seemed to run together in some places, making a sore about the size of a dime. At times the itching and burning were so intense that it seemed unbearable. The more I scratched the worse it became, and there would be a slight discharge from it, especially on my scalp, so as to make my hair matted and sticky close to the scalp. The hair was dry, lifeless and thin. My hair was falling so terribly that I had begun to despair of ever finding relief. My clothing irritated the eruption on my back. The affected parts were almost a solid scab.

"I tried using — at first, then I tried using — and after an hour or so washed it off with good — Soap. Neither of the remedies gave any relief only for the time being. I had been bothered with eczema for about a year and a half. Then I began using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I first bathed the affected parts with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. I used them daily for two months and I was cured." (Signed) Miss Mildred Dennis, Apr. 30, 1913.

Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient when all else has failed. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

CITY WILL PATRONIZE UNIONS SAYS LAMOREUX

Horseshoers File Complaint Against Employers; One Delegate

Electrical standards to be used in lighting the streets of Fresno will be purchased by the city council from union manufacturers, according to the report of Secretary F. P. Lamoreux at the meeting of the Labor Council last night in Tulare hall.

A communication from the San Francisco Labor Council, stating that Fresno trustees had called for bids on an electrical standard made by an union labor men take the matter up with the Fresno trustees. The letter further stated that the standards were covered by patents and could be manufactured by only one company.

HYDE AND SCHNEIDER SENTENCES COMMUTED

Jurymen Swear Convictions of These Two Men Were Compromise

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Wilson today commuted the sentences of Frederick A. Hyde and Joseph H. Schneider of California, convicted of celebrated land fraud conspiracy, to one year and a day imprisonment for each, provided that they pay the originally imposed fines of $16,000 on Hyde and $18,000 on Schneider. The trial court gave Hyde two years and Schneider one year and two months in addition to fine fines.

The President's action was based on remarkable affidavits of the trial jurymen, who swore that their convictions of Hyde and Schneider were a compromise by which they agreed not to convict John A. Benson and Henry P. Diamond, tried with them for the same offense. The jurymen swore they blotted out the four accused, two names at a time, arguing in advance to convict on one acquit another. Neither Hyde nor Schneider had served any time.

SICK CHILD CRIES FOR FATHER, WHO HAS DISAPPEARED

Charles Falk, employed at Guggenheim's parking house, drew his pay on the 20th of last month and disappeared. He left his wife and 12-year-old daughter, who are living at 630 Annapolis street. The child is now sick and cries constantly for her father. Mrs. Falk called on the Republican office yesterday and said she would return if he knew his little girl was crying for him. She fears, however, that he has gone to Washington state. He disappeared once before, staying away three months.

WILL CALL SCHOOL BOND ELECTION IN DECEMBER

Bond Companies of East Say That 5 Per Cent Will Be Acceptable Will Not Demand Money At Once But Only As Needed

Members of the board of education last night heard the report of Attorney George W. Jones in regard to the legal phase of the proposed $150,000 bond issue and it was decided that the election would be called the latter part of November of the first of December and under no circumstances later than the holidays. Jones declared that he had sent letters to five bond companies in the east and had received replies that the bonds could be carried at 5 per cent. One of the matters taken up last night was that after the bonds had been voted, the board of education would not ask for the full amount from the bonding company. They would ask for the amount that they needed at the present time and in this manner the interest on the money would be saved. The bond issue was the main topic of discussion at the meeting last night and it was brought out that if a larger bond issue had been voted a few years ago the one now wanted, not be necessary. Another point, which much stress was laid was that property had increased one-half and more in valuation in the last few years and that purchases had better be made now before the property jumps again.

A delegation of local Socialists appeared at the meeting and asked permission to use the high school auditorium for J. Stitt Wilson on Saturday night, November 1, and Sunday afternoon and evening, November 2.

"Enchantress," Comic Opera, Has Very Little of Comedy and Very Little of Opera

A well filled house at the Barton last evening greeted Kitty Gordon in "The Enchantress." The program described it as a comic opera, but it was only comic and operatic in spots and the comedy was scattered. The best comedy was provided by Bobby Woolley as Truette, head of the secret service, and was located mainly in his feet. The libretto was two hours and a half of dreaminess and a few moments of brightness. The woman and her admirer, the royal family of Zergovia were amusingly summed up as being a family tree, the fruit of which had been peaches and dates, with an occasional lemon.

Victor Herbert has done poorly by us on the musical side of "The Enchantress." Much is pleasing, but not one catchy melody or useful lyric throughout the play.

The plot, as was to be expected, was slight. King Ivan of Zergovia is enamored by Vivien, a singer. His enemies know he will lose his throne if he marries any but princess, and encourage the suit. The king is about to abandon his crown for Vivien, when the latter is proved a princess, and they marry and live happily ever after—presumably. The good points of "The Enchantress" are scored by the setting and Kitty Gordon, herself. Two scenes of great beauty were especially so with its shadings of lavender to violet, carried out in the walls, furnishings, and costumes. No efforts were spared to make a sumptuous production.

However, the most worth-while part of "The Enchantress" was the ability to act and a voice with a peculiarly melodic ring. Kitty Gordon's marvelous beauty and equally beautiful dresses made her a delight to look at. She was a glittering dream of dress, arms, and hands as she moved perfect as any on the stage today. To those who think the privilege of seeing a rarely beautiful woman adequate reward, admission to the Barton last night was cheap at any price.

NEGRO CONFESSES AND DENIES KILLING GIRL

Harry Roberts Runs From Officer; Case Will Be Investigated

When Harry Roberts, a negro, saw Patrolman Greening walking through Commercial park last night he started on a dead run for the railroad tracks, crying that he had killed a girl in Florida and he knew the officers were after him. Greening overtook the negro and took him to jail where he had been holding investigation. Roberts had been drinking. At police headquarters he said that he had murdered a girl in Florida and in the next breath he denied it. A little toy rabbit was found in the negro's pocket and when it was placed on the floor the negro screamed at the sight of his voice when it jumped toward him.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC EMPLOYEE TALKS

Gives His Views Regarding Plant Juice and Tells What It Did For Him

One of the best known and most popular brakemen in Fresno is Mr. Jas. E. Griffith, who for the past ten years has been employed by the Southern Pacific Company. He resides at 1333 J street, this city, and has the following to say about Plant Juice: "For the past five years I have suffered from torpid liver and indigestion in its worst form, probably due to my irregular habits of eating and sleeping. After meals my food distressed me by formation of gas that caused souring in my mouth and throat of undigested food. At night my sleep was broken and restless and did not seem to do me any good. I got up in the mornings feeling miserable; my liver was torpid and inactive and I had a continual dull headache and pain beneath the shoulders. About two weeks ago a friend advised me to try Plant Juice, and more to please my friend than from any hope of relief I got a bottle. Before I had finished that first bottle all distress after eating had disappeared; my liver is now acting normal and the tired feeling in the morning has disappeared. I am feeling better than I have for years, and can sleep like a baby."

Mr. Griffith is one of the many thousands in California whom Plant Juice has restored to health and happiness. It has no equal as a remedy for all ailments of the liver, stomach, kidneys and blood. It cures the sufferer from malaria, have indigestion, impoverished blood, poor circulation, poor appetite, insomnia, headache, pains across the back or in the joints, dizziness, spots before the eyes, try to cure Plant Juice. ## MAN DEMANDS FOOD AT POINT OF GUN

Points Revolver At Daughter of Deputy Sheriff; Makes Escape

When the daughter of Deputy Sheriff Oscar Betorff opened the back door of their home at 418 Valencia street last night in response to a knock, she was confronted by a man with a drawn revolver who demanded food. The stranger attempted to force his way into the kitchen past the girl, but she screamed and frightened the intruder away. Neighbors were summoned by the girl's cries, but the man had disappeared. Mrs. Betorff and her daughter were alone in the house at the time. Betorff was at the jail and he immediately went to his home. A search was made for the man last night by the police and the sheriff's office, but they were unable to find him.

Later in the evening Mrs. Albert R. Dorr of 1480 West avenue reported to the police that a man had climbed onto the porch next to the screen door, where she was lying down, but ran away when she screamed. Patrolman Preston scoured the neighborhood, but could not find the man.

DRUNKEN AUTOIST HITS LAWYER'S CAR

D. S. Ewing Will File Charges If Police Will Make Arrest

Following up his report to the police Thursday night that a drunken autoist had collided with him, Attorney D. S. Ewing said that he and his family were driving toward the city when the man passed them in his machine, going in the same direction. He grazed the side of Ewing's car, but did no damage. Ewing followed him down J street and turned it into the police. The man got out of his car and fell to the sidewalk. He got up and went around to the back of the building and then returned. Ewing approached the man then and asked him his name. "I've got no name and no home. Get me, stove," replied the man as he climbed back into his car and raced away.

"Well I've got your number," answered Ewing. Ewing took the number of the car and turned it into the police. The number was 4178, which is registered to George F. Devo of Selma. Ewing was charged with driving the car.

DID HATTON DIE OF A BROKEN HEART?

(Continued From Page 4) ing it is told that his relatives were ready to stop all communication with him. It is not difficult to imagine their consternation when they saw him basking in the favor of the Queen and given wealth and high honors.

The great power of Hatton held over the Queen is shown in the story that has been told as to his attempt to get a lease of one of the church houses in Ely Place, Holborn. He asked the bishop of Ely for this favor, but naturally it was refused. Thoroughly Hatton went to the Queen and told her of his failure. What did Elizabeth do but write to the bishop a letter that filled him with terror. "Proud Prelate: I would have you know that I who made you what you are can unmake you. I will unmake you. Elizabeth." This brought Hatton the lease forthwith.

Elizabeth was a flirt and it is not possible to tell just how deeply rooted was her love for Hatton, but he was no doubt very much in love with her. It is said by some writers that the reason he never married was because he always hoped that Elizabeth would eventually raise him to the exalted position of his desire. He was furiously jealous of Sir Walter Raleigh, but Elizabeth always assured him that there was no reason to feel that Raleigh was his rival.

The poet Gray has noted of this attachment as follows: "His busy beard and shoestrings green; His high-crowned hat and satin doublet. Moved the stout heart of England's Queen. Though Pope and Spenser could not trouble it."

Elizabeth frequently visited Hatton at the estate Stoke Poges she allowed him to occupy, and while here he did everything possible to show his admiration for her. But, of course, she finally weariied of him as she did of all her lovers, whereupon his health and spirits began to fail. But the Queen showed some pity, for she appreciated his poetry, the best means of stimulating his unhappy state of mind. When she heard of his illness she went at once to his house in Ely Place and carried with her an abundance of broths and cordials to restore him. Did she find that it was too late? She had already broken his heart. It is said, with far coldness and neglect, and while his biographer tells us that he died of a disease, aggravated at the exertion by the Queen of treatment of a large sum of money of which he was accountable, it is generally supposed that his illness was the result of heart throbs at the way he had been neglected by a Queen who had showered such honors upon him for many years.

STRONG TALK MADE ON ADVERTISING TO REALTY MEN

Must Be Truthful to Be Effective Says Los Angeles Man

Public Wants Improvements Now When It Makes Purchases

One of the features of the recent convention of the California State Realty Federation was a talk on "Advertising" by Robert B. Armstrong, a prominent real estate man from Los Angeles.

His address in part is as follows: No factory can live unless it backs up its advertising.

No department store could last a week if it did not scrupulously redeem in performance every promise made in its advertisements.

The manufacturer who does not back up his line for line and word for word his advertisements and his salesmen is going to fail.

The rapacity with which he falls will depend upon how far he falls short of delivering the goods according to specifications.

Real estate is no exception to this rule.

Advertising to be effective in real estate must be absolutely truthful and must be backed up by the performance of the seller as well as by the property itself.

Selling real estate even in this golden state of opportunity has ceased to be a matter of order taking. It requires real salesmanship of first quality to successfully sell real estate here or elsewhere permanently and progressively.

There was a time in the automobile industry when the public sought for automobiles. Selling automobiles consisted of keeping a record in rotation of the deposits that the greedy public offered on a silver platter for the privilege of burning gasoline.

That day has gone by. Today a live salesman with a lot of pep and a good pair of feet backed up by the best kind of a car, good service and the performance of promises to sell anybody an automobile today.

There was a time once at least in Southern California when all that was necessary to do to sell real estate was to put an advertisement in the Sunday paper, arrange for a policeman to keep the crowd from the door Monday morning, and fill out a receipt, as the public bought from the map.

That day has also gone. People are just as land hungry as they ever were, but the clock of real estate of feelings is so much larger than it used to be that the average buyer is confused with the abundance of riches.

For a period of at least twenty-five years, hundreds of real estate firms have been educating the public to the purchase of land. Rapidity of growth in California has aided because values have doubled, tripled and quadrupled, and all of the increased population has helped to confirm promises made by pioneers in the real estate business.

As the public, however, becomes more and more familiar with the purchase and sale of real estate, it has become more and more fastidious and has to a certain extent become more impatient. The day has passed when the public will be satisfied with lots without water, without improved streets, and without the ordinary conveniences that make such property available for either residences or prompt resale.

Property is being sold to the public today because they have found by experience that they can get things that they want upon.

The public is impatient of delay. The public wants what it wants when it wants it.

The man who advertises either by word of mouth, billboard, dodger, newspaper or otherwise, must deliver what he promises when he promises, by the way that he promised to do it. That is, if he intends to stay in business.

A glance at the advertising pages of the newspapers a year or two years back indicates that many firms do not last very long. A careful diagnosis of the reason of these failures is the death of the cases failure to deliver the goods as advertised.

Honesty in advertising has been strenuously advocated by many people in the last few years and the tendency has been all along to eliminate from advertising everything but the truth. One of the things most necessary in the real estate business is to instill into the mind of seekers absolute confidence and that can only be instilled by going further than honesty in advertising. It is the performance after the promise in the advertising, whether the advertising is by word of mouth, by newspaper publicity, or otherwise. The man in the country town who does most of his business face to face is advertising his business through his customers, through those who come in contact with him, or his business is done in a businesslike way and he delivers the goods as advertised, he is building for permanent and increasing prosperous business. If he promises a certificate of title—let it be forthcoming promptly. If he promises improvements—let them be delivered on or before—after the date promised. If he promises transportation, let the transportation come before and not later than the date set.

What is true of the man in the small town who does business on his personal word is true to all the greater degree where the newspapers or other means of widespread advertisement are used.

The man who is going to make the greatest success is the man who is going to be advertised by satisfied customers. And the surest formula for making satisfied customers is this:

Deliver all you advertise and use the full measure. It is the follow-up that counts. Hundreds of men in the real estate business have spent thousands of dollars to get prospects, and then they have neglected the prospects.

Such men are spendthrifts in business. A prospect never comes to have buying possibilities until he is laid away under six feet of soil. Persistence in following up the prospects is the cardinal essential of successful real estate business. The man who neglects prospects, either by indifference, carelessness or overactivity, or overestimation of his business, is guilty of causing a loss that is well-nigh irreparable. Neglecting prospects invites the sheriff. Concentrated cultivation of soil is responsible for bumper crops. Concentrated attention to the prospect is responsible for real estate produce.

Honest advertising, backed up by the performance of every promise, and intensive, persistent, continuous attention to the prospect, is the price of success in the real estate business. The manufacturer who buys thousands of dollars' worth of material and allows it to rot in the yards is rightly regarded as crazy. The real estate man who spends thousands of dollars for prospects and allows them to be wasted because they are not properly followed up is certainly far from a good business man.

The man who advertises honestly and then is dishonest and negligent in fulfilling the promises made in his advertisement is not the kind of a

Do Not Invest Less Than $250 in a New Piano

A GOOD Piano can not be sold now for less than $250. It requires good materials, skilled labor, exclusive patents and expert knowledge to create a GOOD Piano. All these elements cost.

Those offered now at less than $250 are "near" Pianos, built trashily and sold trashily. Long before the payments are up the "near" Piano proves a disappointment as a musical instrument. If you do not care to expend $250, it is far better to buy a "used" or second-hand piano of good make—we carry very good "used" instrument at very reasonable prices.

We can not and will not sell trash. We are known to carry only what is good, what will endure and what is worth the price asked.

CALWA CITY P. O. TO BE OPEN NOVEMBER 1

Expect 30 New Homes to Be Started Within Coming Month

J. C. Maloney, the newly appointed postmaster for Calwa City, has completed during the week an attractive building on Main street for the transaction of Uncle Sam's business and is now installing the fixtures therein preparatory to opening about the first of the month.

The Townsley company have completed this week all of the cement sidewalks and curbs in their North Calwa Addition, where many sales are being made and new homes being built.

Samuelson & Leas report a greater demand for houses to rent than they have been able to supply to the residents of Calwa and as a result it is expected that it will be necessary for at least twenty families to build within the next thirty days, most of whom are now negotiating for their new homes with local contractors.

Dr. Townbridge is preparing his Calwa Heights average property, the streets being opened up and graded, and has received a carload of water pipe for the water system.

Recent sales at Calwa have been to H. W. Matthews and John Yeager who purchased in the Calwa Acres tract, to R. S. Olney, B. L. Young in the North Calwa Addition and a two and one-half-acre tract in the Townbridge Calwa Heights property to S. B. Leas of the firm of Saunders & Leas.

SEND EXCURSIONS OF BUYERS UP BY AUTO

Lundell & Eccleston, Inc., report the demand for Livergood Farms, their Sacramento valley tract, to be increasing. Monday they sent up two prospective buyers from Merced county, Wednesday two and yesterday two auto loads from Fresno. A church, school and many farm houses are under construction on the ground. Good roads are being built all through the land, and grading will soon begin on the new electric rail.

BRINGS COLONISTS FROM TENNESSEE TO FRESNO TO SETTLE

Through a correspondence started nearly a year ago, J. A. Stebbins induced a family in Tennessee to take advantage of the colonist rates that were in effect this fall and settle near this city.

The newcomers are W. Jackson and family who purchased this week through the agency a 10-acre tract on Tulare avenue for $5,000.

The property is improved to oranges, vines and alfalfa and contains a full equipment of buildings in good condition.

man who will furnish confidence into the buying public.

When any real estate concern has reached a point where the general public regards everything over its signature as worth 100 cents on the dollar, that firm has made good, and it can be reasonably expected, other things being equal, that such a firm will be in business for many years to come.

It is not honest in advertising that counts so much as it is the honesty and integrity of the firm back of it delivering exactly what is promised, in the way that it is promised, the day that it is promised.

way cut-off to be constructed through their tract. The ranchers are now threshing beans, which run from 25 to 37 bags per acre, on land that produced a good crop of grain hay this year.

D. P. Lundell, president of the firm, is in Los Angeles this week assisting in the closing of several large deals made.

The Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian church will hold a rummage sale at 503 D street, beginning Tuesday, Oct. 23. Parties having rummage will please telephone Mrs. Geo. Babcock, 1522-Y, or Mrs. L. C. Campbell, 2438, and articles will be called for.

NEW TRACT NORTH OF CITY PLACED ON SALE

F. M. Chittenden Markets
Allison Property In Half Acre Lots

F. M. Chittenden Co. have secured the handling of the Boulevard tract, located north of the Normal school, to be subdivided into one-half acre tracts. This fills a long felt want among the small investors and genuine home builders, who want more ground than two lots to build on.

This tract has a number of advantages, including new city line, passes through center of the property, also 120-foot Van Ness boulevard on the west line. Streets are all 60 feet wide. It is the closest in property on the north of Fresno in line of development that can be had in half acre tracts.

Water will be piped in mains in front of each one-half acre lot, making it possible to build a modern house in every respect. There will also be suitable restrictions.

The Allison property is already on the market in city lots. Construction on the car line starts in one week's time. When cars run to property it will immediately become a city lot proposition.

At the present time a limited number of one-half acres will be placed on the market.

SETTING POLES ON THE RIVER ROAD

The poles for the road to the river have been set as far as the Santa Fe crossing and the workmen are now digging the post holes on the other side of the track. Construction of the road here last night. In order to facilitate matters, the contractors made arrangements yesterday to use the spur track at Andrews, the new station near the crossing, on which to unload the freight cars, thus saving themselves a four-mile haul by team from the depot.

It is expected that the underground crossing on Wilson avenue under the Santa Fe track will hold the work back a little as the specifications for the same have not been received as yet.

MODESTO VOTES DOWN
$80,000 BOND ISSUE

Five Separate Propositions
for Civic Improvements
Fail of 2-3 Majority

MODESTO, Oct. 24.—All bond propositions totaling $80,000 voted upon at a special election held here today, were defeated. There were five separate propositions voted upon as follows: No. 1, $30,000, to improve street intersections; No. 2, $10,000, for sewer extensions; No. 3, $13,000, for extending water system; No. 4, $22,500, for system of storm sewers; No. 5, $4,500, for general street improvements.

A light vote was polled, only 516 out of 3,000 registered, being cast. Only one proposition had a bare majority, No. 2, on which 48 more affirmative votes were cast than were recorded against it; but a two-thirds majority was necessary. Proposition No. 3 was a tie.

DRILLER TELLS OF INDIAN OILFIELDS

Former Midway Oilman Writes of How Work Is Done By Native Blacks, and He Oversees Them

MARICOPA, Oct. 24.—Hiram David, manager of the Oil Well Supply company, is in receipt of a letter from H. Hickley, better known as the West Side as Senator Hickley, who left for Borneo to drill for the Dutch East India company over two years ago.

Hickley is now drilling in Borneo, India, for an English company, and relates in his letter that the Burmah fields are far ahead of Borneo, as the climate is much drier and resembles that on the West Side very much, while in Borneo it was very wet and the island is one big jungle. He states that he has a good modern bungalow to live in, and keeps three servants and a horse. One native is a cook and another a pony boy, and the third is a sort of body servant or valet. He states that the white man has no hard labor to do, as natives are abundant and can be hired cheaply. In drilling the blacks do the heavy part. He is paid $208 gold per month and is able to save at least $150 of it above any expenses that he has. He has met many old friends from the West Side fields and many Californians are working for the same company.

MARICOPA DRILLERS LEAVE FOR MEXICO

MARICOPA, Oct. 24.—Carl Levy and Morris Johnson, two well known drillers, who have made Maricopa their home for the past three years, left yesterday for Mexico, where they have accepted positions to drill for a company operating near Tampico. The two men are the first of many who are to be sent from the Sunset and Midway fields by A. J. Pollak, who is head of an American company which is starting a campaign of extensive development in the Tampico field.

Levy has been employed on the Miocene lease, on section 32, 12-28, for the past two years, and is known as one of the best drillers in the field. Johnson was retained from a four-months trip to South America, where he was sent by a German company to drill in Chili, on a wildcat proposition. He was formerly an employee of the Miocene also. The two men will journey by rail to New Orleans, from which point they will take passage on a coastwise boat for Tampico. Their expenses are paid to the field, and they will draw wages from the time of their departure.

THREE LOTS ON J

Kaiser Bros. purchased three lots on J street, between Ventura and Mono streets, yesterday from August Wolke. The purchase price was reported to be $10,000. The sale was made by Haber Bros.

It is expected that the new owners will begin the erection of a modern building on the property within the next month or so.

$3,500 RESIDENCE
FOR CLARENCE FOIN

Contractor J. A. Phillips is building a one-story, seven-room modern bungalow for Clarence Foin of this city, on the southwest corner of Tulare and S streets. The house is costing $3,500 and will be completed about the middle of December. A large sleeping porch and a basement are contained in the construction. The basement and foundation have been completed. The house will be 32 feet wide and 55 feet deep, facing S street.

$2,500 ADDITION TO
MERCED ST. GARAGE

The addition to the garage on the corner of K and Merced streets, which is being erected by the Hughes estate for William Shaw, will be completed within about thirty days. It is being constructed of brick.

The building will be 50 feet by 50 feet in size and one story high. It will cost about $2,500.

The addition will be used as a workshop and storeroom. It will make the garage 80 feet by 150 feet in size when completed.

AMERICAN OILFIELDS TO START NEW WORK

Material Is On Hand for
Two New Wells to Be
Spudded In Sunset

MARICOPA, Oct. 24.—The American Oilfields, operating on section 32, 12-28, will start two new wells in the very near future. The material for the derricks has been hauled to the property and will be set up as soon as the contract for the building is let. The property where the wells will be drilled is located in the center of the flat, rugged bulk of the Maricopa flat, where many good wells have been struck in the past six months.

Immediately surrounding the American Oilfields lease, the Maricopa Queen, the Pacific Midway, K. T. & O., Miocene, Spreckels, Midway Northern and the Imperial Petroleum have all secured good wells, assuring the owners of property in that vicinity that the oil is there and can be had if the water is taken care of properly.

The new well brought in by the Spreckels Oil company on Tuesday is continuing to flow at the rate of 3000 barrels through a half inch nipple. The gas pressure is still very strong, and ranges over 550 pounds to the inch at the top of the casing.

The No. 5 well of the Maricopa Queen company, which was brought in as a gas well, has been flowing for a few hours later but has not been brought in as yet, but will be within the next few days. The bridge which stopped the flow is being removed and the well will be under perfect control when brought in again.

SUGGESTED REMEDIES IN PORTO RICAN AFFAIRS

MORONK LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Two remedies for conditions in Porto Rico, statehood and independence, were suggested today at the Lake Mohonk conference of the Friends of the Indians and other dependent peoples.

Senator Jose de Diego was unable to attend the conference, but his address outlined in detail a scheme for independence. Porto Rican statehood, he said, was impracticable. In fact, he asserted, the republic of Porto Rico already had been founded by the acts of Congress after the close of the Spanish war.

Bishop Van Buren advocated curbing the sugar and tobacco interests, who were employing the wealth of Porto Rico into the coffers of syndicates in New York and Madrid without benefitting the natives.

The Indians and the Philippines were also discussed.

Major Hunt of Washington told of the work of the bureau of insular affairs. John W. Osborne of the Philippine bureau of education; Charles M. Swift of Detroit; William S. Washburn, chief of civil service in the Philippines from 1901 to 1909, and now a member of the United States civil service commission; and the Rev. Meyer G. Johnson of Newark, N. J., for five years rector of an Episcopal church in Manila, were among those who joined the Philippine discussion.

The conference will adopt its annual platform at the closing session tonight.

THREE DIVORCES ON GROUND OF DESERTION

W. T. Mugg Made Property
Settlement Before Going to Arizona

According to the testimony before Judge Church, a property settlement was made and thereafter on June 27, 1912, W. T. Mugg left home and wife and since has voluntarily absented himself. The divorce on the ground of desertion was granted Mrs. Mary E. Mugg on her testimony and that of her married daughter. Mugg is at present at Glendale, Ariz., where summons was served on him the second of this month. He filed formal answer through Attorney Cosgrave, denying the desertion charge. The Muggs married in Indiana in April, 1886, and the separation followed a married life of twenty-seven years. There are three children living of a family of six.

After a married life of twenty years, Sanford E. Henderson was given divorce by Judge Church from Delilah Henderson because of her desertion in December, 1911. The son, Roy, was called as witness to testify against his mother. The testimony was to the point that she had said she did not care longer to live with her husband and having been called to the bedside of her mother on account of the latter's illness has remained ever since at Porterville and engaged there in the millinery business. The Hendersons married at Woodville, Ariz., in February, 1891.

For desertion in August a year ago and willful failure to provide since for wife and three children, aged 17, 14 and 8, Judge Austin divorced Anna Perkins from George S. Perkins. They married at Minneapolis in December, 1894. Through lawyers in San Diego where he lives, Perkins filed formal appearance in the case and stating that he had no desire to contest the divorce application.

Suit for divorce was brought by Zephia Cameron against George S. Cameron because of desertion. Williams & Besant are her attorneys.

LET STUDENTS FORM AGRICULTURAL CLUBS, SAYS U. C. BULLETIN

Call Issued to Increasing Host of Agricultural Students In State

"Does your high school teach agriculture?" Then, let the students form an Agriculture club and get in touch with the 600 students in the similar organization in the College of Agriculture of the University of California.

This is the call to the increasing host of agricultural students in the California high schools sounded in the October number of the University of California Journal of Agriculture, published by the students at Berkeley. "What can such high school agriculture clubs accomplish, is asked. These are the suggestions:

Meet at least twice each month, one meeting to be given over to student reports and discussions and the other to be an evening meeting, open to the whole community, where successful farmers or other agricultural experts should give talks on practical farming matters.

Make trips to neighboring orchards, vineyards, ranches, etc., and learn by observation the methods of the best farmers.

See that the school library is on the free mailing list of the University of California Experiment Station and that several good California agricultural papers are subscribed for. Encourage horticultural contests appropriate to the community; for instance, prizes could be offered to the students who raise the most Lima beans or who produce a dozen boxes of apples free from worms. (At Walnutville the apple-growers who use the spraying method devised by the university produce apples 50 to 75 per cent of which have no worms, while of the apples from unsprayed orchards 30 to 35 per cent are wormy.)

Write articles for the local paper hanging to the knowledge and use of the neighboring new advances in agricultural practice and the methods of the most successful farmers.

The Agriculture club of the University of California, where 600 students are enrolled in the College of Agriculture, desires to correspond with such high school Agriculture clubs, to aid them in their organizing and planning their work to help in the exchange of speakers drawn from the agricultural faculty at Berkeley and from the farming community, and to co-operate in all movements for advancing the interests of rural life.

ARNOUX WILL NOT GIVE WIFE SUPPORT

He Produces $1.35 In Court
As His Last Asset In the World

A branch of the many sided personal litigation between J. A. Arnoux and Mrs. Anna Arnoux was before Judge Austin yesterday on the plaintiff's motion to postpone the marriage annulment case trial awaiting the arrival of an important deposition of Mrs. Angela H. Laurence of Sterling, Ill., by which he expected to prove that Mrs. Arnoux had a husband living when he married her.

Attorney Klette contested the postponement, unless provision is made by Arnoux for the support of the wife, whom he described as penniless. He also declared that at Arnoux's examination in the lower court for non-support he answered that it was not a question whether he would but that he would not furnish the support.

Judge Austin then took Arnoux in hand. Had he any money? Yes; $1.35. He was ordered to be deposited on the desk of the judge, he being it as temporary bail. Had Arnoux any money owing? Yes, $2,000 or $3,000, but further inquiry proved that the claims are all outlawed. Further questioning tended to show that Arnoux has been working for his brother on a 20-acre ranch, has been receiving no recompense, and made no claim to fifteen tons of alfalfa, which the brother Louis holds under attachment on a note against the plaintiff and wife, and which Attorneys Klette and Thomson have sued the sheriff for because of his sale on execution. Mrs. Arnoux having assigned the alfalfa to them for their fee.

Arnoux made a success of it in proving that he is a bankrupt save for the $1.35 cash asset, when Attorney Klette asked him whether he would accommodate himself to an order of court and arrange for a $20 payment a month for the support of his wife. Arnoux replied flatly he would not.

Judge Austin postponed the trial of the case but advised Arnoux to dig up $20 at once. Not seven minutes elapsed after postponement when the letter carrier came in and deposited in the county clerk's office the long-awaited deposition from Illinois, taken on Tuesday last.

VALUATIONS IN ROSS ESTATE AT VARIANCE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 24.—A vast difference in valuations of the estate left by Mrs. Ida Hancock Ross, wife of Judge Virshup M. Ross, of the federal circuit court, is shown today in the Los Angeles probate court by the first witness called by the state in the contest instituted by State Controller Chambers to obtain a larger inheritance tax.

Robert M. Allen, an expert in land valuations, testified that a tract of 2,600 acres of land, comprising the principal part of Mrs. Ross' estate, was worth $1,284,323, exclusive of all oil values.

The same tract has been valued by appraisers for G. Allan Hancock, Mrs. Ross' son and executor, at $1,220,000, while the entire estate was valued at $4,254,921.

State Attorney General L. S. Wells, who is conducting the state's fight for a larger appraisal, said other experts would be called to testify concerning the oil value of the tract.

He stated there would be no contest over the remainder of the estate.

MOVES TO DISMISS FIVE YEAR OLD CASE

Chinese Gambling Injunctions Outdone In Evans-Bell Litigation

Outdoing even the record in the hold up Chinese gambling cases, Attorney W. H. Haughwout filed motion yesterday for hearing on November 3 for the dismissal of record and the vacation of the temporary restraining order in the case of A. B. Evans against E. N. Bell in which more than five years have elapsed since filing of complaint and answer.

The suit is one for an accounting in a complicated real estate partnership and to restrain the sale by Bell of a lot in Easterby Ranch, with title for these years consequently held up. Evans will be remembered as the manager of the ice company and prominent in basketball circles. For two or three years he has ceased to be a resident of Fresno.

The transaction covered by the suit goes back to February, 1906, when Bell contracted to buy a parcel of land from the Houghton Company and then sold one-half of it to Evans for $8,000, they continuing as partners in the deal until February, 1909, though no assignment of the property was ever made. In January, 1908, it appears, Bell sold his option interest to A. L. and Andrew Nelson for $2,175 and lots in city block 118, in March conveyed the lots for $3,400 and bought from them the Easterby ranch for $2,800, also borrowing $1,100 from A. V. Lisenby on a portion of it.

Evans tried to determine his interest as a partner in the unrecorded partnership and to restrain the sale of the mortgaged half ranch lot. This record also shows several substitutions of attorneys, all masterfully inactive in pushing the case along.

VERY BEAUTIFUL IS "THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE" COMING TO BARTON

CHARLOTTE WALKER, AS "JUNE," IN "THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE"—BARTON NEXT TUESDAY EVENING.

Eugene Walter's new play, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which comes here to the Barton next Tuesday evening, is not a fanciful creation, but a heart throbbing story, exquisitely embellished with scenic effects of the Virginia hills. A mountain girl, un-couth, primitive, almost savage in her likes and dislikes, but womanly with all, meets in Jack Hale a type of man she never imagined existed. He, on the other hand, is enthralled with the gray-like qualities of the wildness of the hills, and he becomes interested in her, without at first imagining that such a wild flower would over-run in love with him, and wish to marry him. He monopolizes all her thoughts by day, while her image blends with everything he sees in the world outside, the great cities where he has come from, and underneath the lone pine she avows her love for him, and he avows his love for her, and they send for the justice of the peace and are married, thus ending the feud that has existed so long. Charlotte Walker plays June, and she is supported by a most capable company.

The seat sale opens this morning at 9 o'clock.

"Madame Sherry"

"Madame Sherry," which comes to the Barton next Thursday evening, brings to mind the enormous success of this pretty Viennese opera when it toured the west two seasons ago, and to those who missed its tuneful strains on that occasion a rare treat is in store. No musical comedy of recent production has enjoyed a greater continual popularity than "Madame Sherry," and the coming engagement, headed by John L. Kearney, conforms with all the lavishness and splendor that have made this musical gem such a favorite with lovers of music and genuine comedy. The enchanting melody of the incidental strains and the opening number, "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own," is a lilting cocktail that lifts one to the heights of musical intoxication, a sensation of rapturous delight that is not soon forgotten. The index of the chorus is always a feature with "Madame Sherry" and are especially chosen to prove that "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own" terpsichorean, could not have found a more fitting vehicle. Beautiful scenery, gorgeous costumes, elegant stage appointments, pretty girls and an efficient company of singing and dancing celebrities make an ensemble of musical elegance that promises to be the musical event of the early theatrical season.

The seat sale will open next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

CHILDREN WILL HAVE FREE MATINEE TODAY AT PRINCESS

Feature Picture "Victory" Will Be of Great Interest for Little Folks

The children of Fresno will be entered free this afternoon at the Princess and a special invitation has been extended to the children of the orphanage who will attend with masters of the institution. Other children will also be admitted free when accompanied by parents, guardian or any adult. Every care will be taken of the comfort of the little guests.

The program should prove especially attractive to them as the great motion picture, "Victory," is the feature. This is a five-reel subject which shows the American navy, with its ships, hydroplanes, guns and machines in action. During the production several ships are sunk, a fort is destroyed and the navy hydroplane is seen in action dropping bombs on ships and forts.

Many of the navy departments most noted men, including Secretary Daniels and the admirals and other officials, appear in the cast. There is an intensely absorbing plot to the play and it is patriotic and thrilling throughout.

In addition to the magnificent picture production there will be the regular vaudeville features, and particularly pleasing to the children will undoubtedly be the Four Van States, presenting their musical sketch, "An Old Dutch Musicals." Piano, violin and cello are used in the act and the four are accomplished vocalists. Their selections range from popular to class and they harmonize beautifully. They dress in Dutch costumes and their act is presented with a beautiful scene depicting an old Holland inn.

The Frances Duo, trick bicycle riders, should also prove favorites. They ride bikes of many kinds in many ways even to a bicycle which, although complete at the start, is hardly less than a single wheel before the rider dismounts. Many of their tricks are hazardous and thrilling.

The Dorothy Lyons company, in "A Modern Annals," have a comedy sketch that is a fountain of laughs. The plot is woven about a fickle husband who unknowingly flirts with his wife's sister and takes her to a show. His efforts to extricate himself from the tangle which results are extremely ludicrous.

This program will be shown tonight for the first time. An entirely new show will be given tomorrow.

FREE SHOW FOR KIDS TODAY AT EMPIRE

Hesse Will Give the Youngsters a Rare Treat Today

EMILY GREEN, Character Comedienne at Empire

This is children's day at the Empire. Manager Hesse is going to be host to all of the children who want to accept his generous invitation to see the splendid bill this afternoon at the matinee.

This is not a new innovation at the Empire. Last year a custom of making the last Saturday in each month free matinee day for the children was introduced and it goes without saying that it found immense favor with the children. So the custom is being renewed this year and today there will be a host of delighted children. Mrs. Hesse will be there to look after the wants of those who are not accompanied by adults.

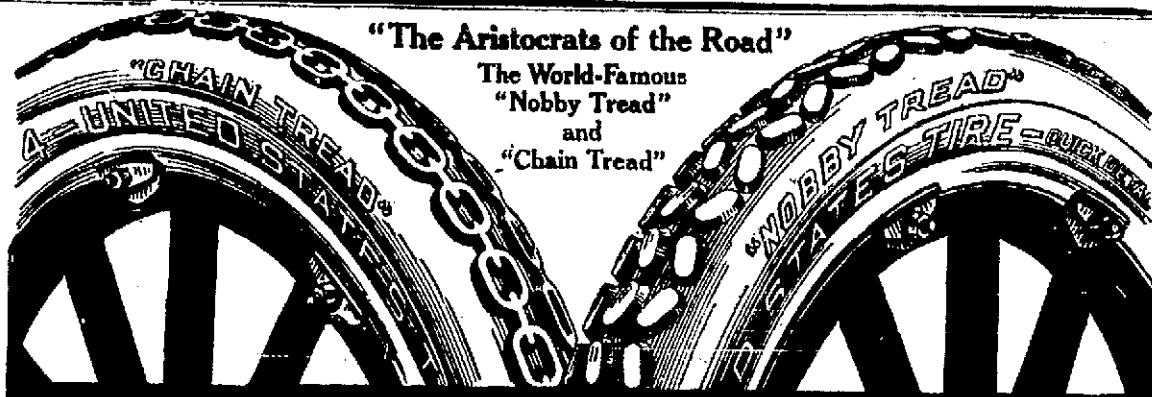

And it is just the sort of show that will make the children much pleased. There are the trained bears of Princess Victoria. She has them in a pen on the stage with a high wire fence about them so that they cannot get away. She has a miniature playground for the bears. They are little bears anyway, and as frolicsome as children. They slide down the chute, roll about on the big wooden ball, play house, and perform many other diverting tricks. It is an act that makes a big hit with little ones.

The blackface comedian with his funny ways and funny sayings and songs will also find many admirers in the audience of children. White and Brown have a comedy skit, "A Lesson in Firing," that is very funny.

The singing of the City Quartet is also a feature that is making a good hit. People everywhere like music, and the kind of music produced by these people is of the highest quality. They have songs of the best class.

Two males and two females make up the quartet. The Elmer Trio with their many difficult tricks also have an act that is above the ordinary. They perform feats that seem impossible. This is an acrobatic duo with exceptionally good stuff.

Emily Green and company, in "The Minnesota Romance," have a laugh maker that is in a class by itself. This is a humorous piece and the clever character acting of Miss Green is highly meritorious. The piece is wonderfully realistic, showing the blowing up of a bridge as one of the spectacular scenes enacted. The matinee today begins at 3 o'clock. Evening shows at 7:45 and 9:15. Tonight

TULARE APIARIST IS AT POINT OF DEATH

J. E. Walker Hit On Head With Hoe Sept. 9, Is In Critical Condition

Tulare, Oct. 21. J. E. Walker, tho' appearing to get on all right at his ranch home near town, but his condition is critical, and relatives have been telegraphed to come to Tulare at once. Death seems to be only a matter of time.

Walker, who is a prominent bee-keeper, was struck down by a horse while on an attention with his wife and brother-in-law, Sam Miller, at his ranch a few miles southeast of the city, on September 9th. Miller is now out on bail, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. In case of Walker's death, Miller would have to be taken into custody on a more serious charge.

The trouble arose over a dispute

With regard to the crop of honey on the ranch, and Miller is said to have struck Walker a blow with the blade of a hoe which cut a deep gash in the side of his head. Both Mrs. Walker and Mr. Miller witnessed the altercation. Walker was taken to the infirmary at Tusare, where an operation was performed to relieve the pressure on the brain, paralysis having set in. (A letter remaining at the hospital for several weeks, during all of which time he suffered from partial paralysis, and was particularly affected by the loss of his limbs.) The operation was performed preventively, and Walker was removed to his home. He was apparently improving until a few days ago, when he had a set-back, and has been falling ever since, and tonight hope for his recovery has been abandoned.

GENERAL CONDITIONS. Except moderate showers in Washington and northern Oregon and light showers in Montana, there has been no precipitation from the Pacific coast to the Mississippi river and over the upper Lake region during the last twenty-four hours, and generally pleasant temperature conditions prevail throughout that broad region. The Gulf storm is moving slowly northward causing heavy rains along the entire Atlantic seaboard, and along the entire Ohio valley southward.

The barometer is lower over the Atlantic on Friday evening, but has risen since. The lower pressure over the Atlantic will bring about some moderate rain in the temperature of this vicinity on Saturday. In other respects there will be little change in weather conditions.

W. F. CHANDLER OFF ON ELK HUNT IN WYOMINGExpects To Be Gone for Three Weeks; Son to Accompany Him

W. F. Chandler left early this morning for Jackson, Wyo., where he will remain for the next three weeks in the mountains of that district. He expects to be joined by his son, Roscoe, who will accompany him on the trip.

The objects of the trip are twofold. Chandler wants to see the country in western Wyoming and he wants to have a good elk hunt before the season closes.

From reports that have been received here by Chandler during the last few weeks, elk are fairly plentiful around Jackson's Hole, which lies to the south of Yellowstone Park and to the north of the Snake River. Elk hunting is now permitted.

Roscoe Chandler, who is to accompany his father, has been in Glenn county for the last few months developing some ranch land that he has there.

HIS FORTUNE

BY WALTER GREGORY.

HO comes to consult the Mystic?"

Audrey started as the voice rang through the seemingly empty room; empty save for her own presence. She glanced about uneasily but she could see no one, and, as though reading her thoughts, the invisible voice spoke again.

"No one is near these save the spirit of the Mystic. Place the money in metal on the silver salver, but touch it not when once it leaves thy hand."

On the oaken table stood an urn-shaped tray, the top of which was a plate of brushed silver. Audrey tossed the coin upon the dish, and was surprised to see it disappear.

"Be patient and wait," commanded the voice, and Audrey was only too glad to sink into one of the comfortable looking chairs, though she half expected that presently it would fly through the air and carry her into the presence of the Mystic.

Ever since she had been admitted into the outer waiting room by the turn-of-mind, she had been in a whirl of surprise. The most surprising thing of all to her was the fact that she, Audrey Haydon, should find herself in the reception room of a fortune teller.

Only the extremity of her need had induced her, as a last resort, to visit Sirus the Seer, who, according to her advertisements, gave advice with the aid of the penicil—controlled by the famous seal of Solomon, which gave him power over all the spirits of air.

She had been half-amused by the tawdry clasp of the outer room, with its cheap astronomical charts and tinseled hangings. The inner room seemed more mysterious with its dim light and its faint yet penetrating perfume which suggested the Orient.

The hangings, too, were of a better sort. Here appeared the signs of the Zodiac, the interlaced triangles, the significant numbers and the rest of the insignia that had served other mystics thousands of years before.

But most impressive of all was the sense of being watched; the feeling that sharp eyes were upon her from somewhere, a penetrating gaze from which she could not escape, shift her position as she might. She was glad when at last a muffled door swung open and a voice bade her enter.

She passed on to a tiny little room that seemed scarcely large enough to contain two chairs and the table that stood between. On the latter lay a cushion of rich crimson velvet, and in response to the command of the bearded figure she removed her gloves and laid her bare hands upon the cushion.

Contrary to her expectation, Sirus did not seek to read the lines of her palm. Her hands lay on the cushion palms downward, and he made no suggestion that she reverse them.

On either side of the table a lamp in a closed reflector threw its light upon the tapering fingers, and overhead another light threw a strong illumination upon her face. Apart from this, there was no source of illumination, and she could barely distinguish the slight form of the Mystic clad in cabalistic robes. A huge white head masked the lower part of the face and a tangle of white hair fell low upon the forehead, leaving only the sharp eyes visible.

For a moment there was silence and then Sirus spoke.

"You have come for advice," he began. "You are in trouble and have no one to whom you may turn. There are various sources of trouble. Yours has to do with your family. It has something to do, I should imagine, with an estate. You will find in your circle of friends one who will gladly help you. Confide freely in him. You may know him by the fact that he will, at your first meeting, ask that he may aid. You may place full trust in him. It is his desire to aid you to the fullest, Miss Haydon."

"You know my name!" gasped Audrey.

The seal of Solomon is all powerful," murmured Sirus. "Go in peace with the assurance that help is close at hand."

The seal of Solomon, a splendidly cut lapis lazuli, flashed under the light, as Sirus waved his hand toward another open door and presently Audrey issued upon the street by an entrance other than that by which she had come.

She headed toward the park with her head in a whirl. She had not known where to turn, and as a last chance she had consulted a seer, only to be told that help was close at hand.

It seemed very little to receive for the coins she had dropped into the tray and yet somehow she felt that Sirus spoke the truth and she was well content, though she could not quite realize that she was giving full credence to a charlatan.

With a feeling of cheerfulness that she had not felt in weeks, she entered the house and her dinner prepared in dress for the forthcoming ball. She had felt little inclined for social relaxation before her visit to the Mystic, but now as the maid helped her into her gown, she was all a-tremble. Perhaps that very night she should meet the help that Sirus had promised.

The hours passed and supper was over. Audrey had given up hope of meeting her unknown rescuer when Mrs. Norrman came across the ball room floor, straight toward where she was sitting.

With her was a tall, soldierly looking young man whose pleasant gray eyes smiled upon the world from under thick brows that matched the curly brownness of his hair. Even before they were introduced the eyes seemed to greet and hold her own glance, and though she tried to acknowledge the introduction to Cecil Rodney she felt that she cut but a poor figure.

"Mr. Rodney asked to meet you and I know that you would be glad to take pity on an almost totally friendless young man," Mrs. Norrman had said as she left them, and this gave Rodney his cue as he sank down beside her.

"I have been watching you all the evening," he confessed with an odd mixture of diffidence and confidence. "Your eyes seemed to be seeking aid, Miss Haydon. May I not answer their call?"

Audrey almost screamed in her surprise. She had expected to meet someone who should make himself known and yet her inherent disbelief in fortune tellers would not permit her full confidence in her half-formed hope. Now his first remark established Rodney as the help Sirus had promised.

Cecil Rodney had a face and manner that inspired confidence and almost before she realized it they were sitting in a nook in the conservatory and she was telling him of her fears.

Her brother had been led into speculation by the trustee of the fund created by her mother's estate. He had been encouraged to overdraw against his share of the trust, and when this, too, had disappeared into the maw of Wall Street he had been led to forge her name to papers whereby more money might be obtained.

Now the trustee, whom she detested, threatened criminal prosecution unless she promised to marry him. Her brother was pleading with her to keep him from prison and though her soul revolted at the thought she could see no other solution of the problem.

To the friends of her own set she would not appeal, since to do so would be to publish the story of her brother's transgression, and already he had been aided so often that those who might be expected to assist her

Haydon. Shall we make common cause?"

"If you only would," cried the girl impulsively stretching forth her hand and for a moment the fluttering fingers lay in his own strong grasp as they "shook hands on it."

In the weeks that followed the two saw much of each other. Rodney was alert and resourceful, and his quiet confidence in himself brought a sense of security to the sadly harassed girl.

In some manner Rodney seemed to scent trouble, and he lessened his attention, though Paul was still persistent in his plea that his sister marry Rodney and save him from disgrace.

SLASHED SKIRT

EDDYTORIUM

After considerable thought we have decided to write an eddytorial for this wks Bugle on the "Slashed Skirt" for a subject.

From what we have saw in a occasional city paper which we have managed to get our hands on the slashed skirt is terrible popular & quite the rage among wimmen folks in some sections of the country.

For the benefit of our more ignorant-subscribers who don't keep up to the styles peraps we ort to state that the slashed skirt is a skirt with a slash in the lower portion of it up almost as far as the knee in some instances and not quite so far upwards in others.

This new style aint struck Bingville very hard as yet being as no-buddy in our midst has the audacity to appear in public in a slashed skirt except Miss Amelia Tucker, our reigning sossiety queen & leader of the Bingville 400. Miss Amelia appeared at church last Sunday morning wearing a slashed skirt and when she flung up the lid and stepped up onto the quire platform there was a gasp of astonishment on the part of the congregation especially the wimmen. The men present also noticed Amelia's slashed skirt. Deacon Leavengood over in the Amen corner noticed it so much that he has had a crick in his neck ever since. Deacon Osgood, who is another stanch pillar of the church whispred to his wife that if they would set a feeble mite nearer to the quire they could hear the sermon a good deal better, but Mrs. Osgood told the Deacon very short that she calkulated he meant he could SEE better rather than HEAR better, after which the Deacon subsided. Every time Mrs. Osgood ketches the Deacon lookin tords Amelia she would prod him in the ribs with her elbow, but she might as well permitted him to look becuz the Deacon had on his "near-to" specs anyhow.

Rev. Saml Moore, our beloved pastor, who observed Amelia's slashed skirt when she entered the church, took occasion in his sermon to say that he thort enny woman or girl who would wear one of them new fangled skirts with a slash in it to church ort to be ashamed of theirself. At this Amelia blushed deeply after which she got up and flirited outen the church in deep disgust. Amelia says that the last time shell ever sing in the Bingville church quire unless Rev. Moore apologizes. Rev. Moore says he aint got nothing to apologize for and there the matter stands.

As editor of the Bingville Bugle we don't agree with Rev. Moore's opinion about the slashed skirt. Personally we welcome the slashed skirt to Bingville and we hope to see more Bingville ladies with em on. The new style slashed skirt gives a woman a good deal more freedom of movement than the old fashioned skirt and besides that it is better ventilated. Now we dont know as we would care to have our wife wear a slashed skirt but we must admit that we like to see em on other men's wives.

LET US HAVE MORE SLASHED SKIRTS IN BINGVILLE! THE BINGVILLE BUGLE IS BIG IN FAVOR OF EM! WE THINK THEY ARE VERY BECOMING AND SHALL BOOST THE SLASHED SKIRT IN OUR EDDYTORIUM COLUMN FROM TIME TO TIME!

Personals

The foliage has begin to turn in and about Bingville and will soon be very bootiful. Jabe Tucker left several gorjus leaves on our desk one day recent. Several dollars from Jabe on back subscription would of been more exceptable.

Sim Winslow is thinking some of subscribing for the Bugle, so we hear. We wisht to goodness folks would think less and subscribe more.

"Lige Green" purchased a pr. of pants at the co. seat recent which was about a foot too short for him. The first time Lige appeared on the streets in these pants he attracted a good cal of attention. Mrs. Green, however, has made them longer by piecing them out with goods of another color, but even hat's better than they was before.

Jason Tucker, chief of our fire brigade, says there aint been a fire in Bingville sinst time immemorial, as you might say, and that while he don't wish for no holocaust he wouldn't mind if a henhouse or something would git on fire jest to keep the brave members of the Bingville Fire Dept. in practise.

Mrs. Samantha Deever is still on the sick list. In a conversation we had with Samantha recent she says she aint drawd a well breth for nigh onto 35 years, which is a record to be proud of. We don't know of ennybuddy who enjoys sich poor belth as Samantha does.

NARROW EXCAPE!

For Hank Dewberry, Our Well Known Unemployed Cittizen! Him & Wes Woodruff, Expert Hunter & Trapper, Went Squirrel Hunting With Above Results! Hank Is Almost on the Verge of Nervous Prostration!

Tother day (to be exact last Tuesday morning about 8 a.m.) Wes Woodruff, our expert hunter & trapper, was on his way down town with a gun over his shoulder and his old dog "Tige" at his heels, and when Wes passed Hank Dewberry's residence (Hank was getting out on the front piazza resting and wondering where his next chew of tobacco was coming from.

"Where be you goin', Wes?" says Hank. "I'm goin' squirrel huntin'," says Wes; "you'd better come on and go long." "If I had a chew of tobacco," says Hank, "I would." Whereupon Wes pulled a plug of dogleg outen his pocket and passed it over to Hank, who chewed off all he could hold in his mouth and passed what was left of the plug back to Wes.

Speakin' about this afterward, Wes said that he would of been ailed if he had of asked Hank for what he bit off and had gave him the plug.

Be that as it may, both started off hunting. They kept the main road for about a mile outen Bingville tords the west, then they cut across the fields and entered Sim Winslow's woods, where there is quite a number of oak trees. Wes calkulated the squirrels would be in the oak trees after acorns. Hank and the dog snuk along behind Wes and by and by Wes whispred that he saw a squirrel and for goodness sake to be as quiet as possible until he could git a shot at it.

Jest as Wes was squintin' along the barl Hank whispred in his ear, "Hurry up and pull the trigger, Wes, becuz I be a going to sneeze—I can't hold it back much longer!" This sort of rattled poor Wes, and before he could shoot, Hank sneezed and the squirrel scart nearly outen his hide, whisked into a hole in the tree. Wes talked pure ty circumstances, but Hank said he couldn't help doing so to save his life. Then they snuk forward again.

It was nearly a hour subsequent that Wes returned with the axe, and although he was all outen breath he began chopping on the tree at once. Hank set off at a safe distance on the opposite side of where Wes said the tree would fall and watched the operation in intense excitement.

The tree which the coon had tuk refuge in was nothink but a shell, being hollow, and it wasn't very long after Wes began to chop that it began to totter. Suddenly without enny warning the tree began to fall, but it didn't begin to fall in the direction Wes said it would. On the contrary, it began to fall tother way, right tords Hank.

"Jump for your life!" hollers Wes as loud as he could holler. When poor Hank seen the tree falling tords him he seemed rooted to the spot and paralyzed for a instant, as you might say, then with a wild yell of anguish he sprung to his feet and started to run. When the tree come down with a crash, being hollow and nothink but a shell, it busted into smithereens. The coon bounced out scart almost outen his wits we persoon and started as hard as it could run. Strange as it may seem the coon started to run in the same direction that Hank was going. Hank glanced back over his shoulder, and when he seen the coon right behind him he thort it was after him shure and would pounce right on his back soon as it ketches up and tear him limb from limb like a nut.

Meanwhile Wes had grabbed up the gun and tuk after the coon. Behind Wes came the dog as fast as he could go, but "Tige" can't run very fast being as he has rheumatiz in his hind legs.

"Git outen the way heasus I'm goin' to shoot!" hollers West to Hank. "Go ahead and shoot!" hollers Hank back. "Ide as lief he shot as et up alive!" But Wes was afeard to shoot lest he would hit Hank, so he throwd down his shotgun and buckled down as hard as he could run to ketch up to the coon. Finally Wes got near enuff to lift the coon with a vishious kick which he done, but the result was that he kicked the coon into the air and it lit right on top of Hank. This was a terrible blow to Hank, whose knees sunk right down under him, as you might say, and he fell in a heap with the coon on top. By this time Wes and Tige had ketches up to Hank and the coon.

Wes tried to kick the coon again, but he missed the coon and kicked Hank in the ribs, which made Hank mean with anguish. Then to make matters worse, "Tige" sailed in and bit Hank on the leg, presumably becuz he thort Hank was the coon. During the struggle the coon escaped and ran under a nearby ledge into a hole which it was probably trying to get to all the time.

Wes lifted Hank to his feet and assisted him back to where he had left his gun. Then both returned to Bingville in deep disgust. Hank says ennybuddy who goes hunting squirrels with Wes Woodruff takes their life in their hands. Hank blames Wes for starting out to hunt squirrels and winding up by hunting coons. Wes says Hank is a terrible coward to be afeard of a coon, and the next time he takes ennybuddy hunting with him he'll pick out a brave nian.

DEALERS COMPLAIN OF IMMATURE GRAPES

Charges Made Early In Season Borne Out By State Viticultural Board

Conducts Investigation In Practically Every Market of U. S.

Charges made early this season that scores of cars of unripe grapes, not fit to eat, were being shipped to Eastern markets, have been further borne out by an investigation just completed by the State Viticultural Commission. At the time the charges were made here, the local agents of several fruit companies, recorded as the principal offenders, strenuously denied that anything of this kind was being done and decried the publication of these reports because they said it would damage the eastern markets. Eastern market reports later told of unripe fruit that was received and of the low prices that were received for it.

Now comes the State Viticultural Commission, armed with letters from almost every grower of fruit in the United States, and gives further evidence that unripe fruit was sent out in large quantities.

That something must be done to prevent the shipment of unripe fruit if California table grapes are to be in demand in the East, is the belief of the members of the commission, and it is probable that something will be done very soon, looking to the control of fruit shipments.

The attention of the commission was called to the practice of sending immature fruit out of the state shortly after it was organized, and an investigation was immediately begun. The secretary of the commission asserts that the evidence is overwhelming to the effect that the evil does exist and that it needs correction. That shipping of unripe grapes was not only done this season but is done each season.

Nearly every prominent grower of California table grapes in the Eastern markets replied to the letter of inquiry of the commission and they all seem to be agreed that something should be done to prevent the marketing of these green, unpalatable grapes. The shipping of this kind of fruit all comes about through a desire on the part of many growers and shippers to get early goods into the markets.

"If they only realized how prices were affected afterward by these first unwinning grapes," says E. M. Sheehan, secretary, "we believe there would be no reason to resort to a prompt discontinuance of the notion."

"It would certainly be a blessing if some one would step in and stop California shippers' putting immature grapes on the market," writes H. Lind and Fuchs, dealers of Indianapolis, to the commission. The letter from this firm is but a sample of the letters that have been received by the State Viticultural Commission relative to this matter. The letter is as follows:

Dear Sir:—In your letter of the 3rd, relative to green grapes, sent to state, it would certainly be a blessing if someone would step in and stop California shippers putting immature, green grapes on the market, as it always hurts the grape business for at least thirty days. If the consumer gets a taste of these green grapes early in the season, he will not buy any more until positively assured that the grapes are good. It is only a few of the growers that do so. They want to obtain high prices, but as a rule they get very low prices. In years gone by, when there was not very much fruit raised in California, these tactics were all right, did not hurt much, but now with the large crops California has, they cannot afford to lose their reputation. Thanking you for your letter and hoping that you will succeed in stopping shipment of green grapes, we remain, Yours very truly, HIND & FUCHS.

The season's record for Malaga was topped by the Pioneer Fruit Company in Boston on Wednesday, when a straight car of Malaga from the William Newman place at Clovis, sold for $17.01. The average price per crate was $1.50.

START MOVEMENT TO ORGANIZE VALLEY AUTO CLUB

Committee Discusses Plan for Uniting Owners of San Joaquin

Wholesale Arrests In Fresno Cause; Mass Meeting Will Be Held

Tentative organization of the Fresno Motor Club was effected at a meeting of three automobile men, James E. Gurley, Arthur C. Wheelock and N. R. Cooper, yesterday. This organization will be fashioned after the Automobile Club of Southern California and also the Northern Motor Club. A name will be selected and permanent organization effected at a mass meeting within the next two weeks.

The formation of the motor club for San Joaquin Valley is the direct result of wholesale arrests of automobile owners of Fresno. Motor men believe that they have not received justice at the hands of local authorities and say they are organizing in order to fight what they term persecution instead of prosecution.

As in the case of other California automobile clubs, the Fresno organization will be affiliated with the California State Automobile Association and will be governed by its rules. Should a member of the club be arrested for speeding, the attorney of the club will immediately look into the case and determine the guilt or innocence of the driver. If the matter is carried to court, the club will fight, in case it finds the alleged lawbreaker innocent.

It will be the duty of the club, according to the statement of N. R. Cooper, to discourage all speeding and such road stunts as are properly placed. The jurisdiction of the Automobile Club of Southern California includes all territory south of Bakersfield, that city included. The Northern association has charge of all territory north of the Kern county line.

A greater portion of the San Joaquin Valley, from Bakersfield to Stockton, will come under the jurisdiction of the Fresno club. Although the movement originated in Fresno, every district of the valley will be included. Automobile clubs of surrounding towns will be taken in as affiliated organizations.

"Although this movement was started by automobile men," said Cooper last night, "it is not an exclusive organization of motor car dealers. Every automobile owner of the valley is eligible to membership. Officers of the club are to be chosen from representative men of the valley, regardless of their affiliation with the auto game."

Just Apply This Paste And the Hairs Vanish

(Beauty News.) It is no longer necessary for a woman to go through life with a face disfigured by a fuzzy growth, for if she will apply a hair-deletant paste to the objectionable hairs for 2 minutes, then rub it off, every trace of hair will vanish. To make the paste, mix some water with powdered delectant. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delectant. Better results are obtained if the delectant is purchased in an original package.

SEEK TO INCREASE CHURCH ASSESSMENT

Congregationalists Engage In Acrimonious Debate; Favor Prohibition

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—Another acrimonious debate was precipitated today before the commission of ministers of the national council of Congregational churches when it was announced that it was intended to raise the individual assessment of each Congregationalist in the United States toward the support of the national council from 3 to 4 cents a year.

Frank Kimball, a member of the commission, explained the increase but said the commission hoped later to have the increasing profits from the publication of church books to support the council. Page, who is president of the Sunday school and publishing society of the church then charged the commission with bad faith in not having consulted his society before formulating the plan.

Rev. W. E. Burton of Illinois, one of the commission, declared the commission had no intention of railroading anything through the council.

After a lengthy discussion the commission stated it would abandon the plan of using the publishing society's profits. The commission of ministers will present its final draft of the new constitution it has framed to the council tomorrow morning.

By a vote of 517 to 14 today, the National Council of Congregational churches went on record in favor of prohibition, defeating a movement headed by Rev. Shuman E. Hobbins of Connecticut, who opposed the adoption as an official final of the report of the temperance committee, favoring prohibition for over the manufacture, sale, transportation and exportation of intoxicating beverages throughout the United States.
